

focus on Europe

torrossa digital library

Over 600 digital publications from 137 specialist publishers exploring European history, identity, culture and politics, from the mediaeval period to the present day. and covering a number of significant aspects:

The origins of a united Europe and its evolution; the individual nations, populations and languages that form the union; links and comparisons between countries and Europe, as well as with other continents and areas.

Expressions of European culture, from tourism and sports to philosophy and the arts, including theatre, music, fine arts and architecture. The historical roots of religion in Europe, its influence, religious conflicts, and its place in modern day society.

Political and legal perspectives, democracy, constitution and policy. Movement across borders, the questions of immigration and asylum, and issues such as human rights and policies regarding welfare and diversity.

Analysis of society within Europe, including studies on youth, education and professional training, as well as citizenship, minority groups and second generations.

Economic factors, goods and commerce, current markets and the recent recession, the situation of industry and workers.

All titles are available in collections on the Torrossa digital library or may be purchased individually from <https://libraries.casalini.it>.